

"The dream"

I am sitting on the beach. The sea is gurgling. I'm alone. Just alone with the seagulls. I get up and go walking. I am walking through the dunes. A rabbit runs away and from a distance a pheasant calls. I walk and walk. Suddenly, there is a woman with a child. It's a little baby, who is still crying, just like the woman. The woman sees me. She is coming to me. Then she nudges the baby into my arms. "Take care of her." She whispers. Then she's gone. I watch her off, too upset to react. I don't know what I have to do. The little girl is sleeping in my arms. I go to the nearest house and ring at the door. Somebody opens the door. I see the woman. She stares at me, desperated. Then I wake up. It was a dream..

© augustus 2010, Rose, BasicPublishing.nl